DETAILED ACTIONWithdrawal of Allowable Subject Matter

The indicated allowability of claims 2,7 and 8 is withdrawn in view of a more careful review of the reference(s) to Rickman and the United Kingdom patent GB 2 378 207. Rejections based on the newly cited reference(s) follow.

Claim Objections

Claim 10 recites the limitation "said one orientation" in line 2. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claims 2-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US Patent #6,112,493 to RICKMAN. RICKMAN discloses the use of a conservatory framework including an eaves structure (see figures 3 and 4) formed from a roof and a joint connection that consists of a two part connector (17,36) interconnecting adjacent profiled sections (18) such that the connector parts (17,36) are angularly adjustable (as at 24 and 37) to one another about an axis perpendicular to the longitudinal axis of the frame, column 4, lines 16-19. The conservatory of RICKMAN also includes a sill (S) (shown but not identified) for mounting windows (as at 10) located below the eaves, see the marked attachment. In reference to claim 3, the connector part (36) being arranged to interfit within a slot of the profiled section (18), column 4, lines 7-11; wherein, the connector part (36) telescopes within the profiled section (18). Regarding claim

Art Unit: 3635

4, the connector part (36) is provided with a projection (37) arranged to be superimposed on a track (23) of the projecting wing (21,22). In reference to claim 5, the connector parts (36) is the load transmitting member.

Claims 7,8,10 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by GB 2 378 207. GB 2 378 207 discloses a framework including first (12) and second (14) frame members coupled together in angular relation to one another by a coupling arrangement consisting of a plate (126) having an upstanding pivot post (124), and a channel (128) extending longitudinally thereof; wherein the channel (128) receives the plate (126) maintaining it captive against separation from the first member (12) in a transverse direction thereto. The arrangement further includes an arm (130) that is coupled to the second frame member (14) by also being coupled to the pivot post (124). Regarding claim 8, the channel (130) includes an opening (132) from which the pivot post (124) projects transversely therethrough with respect to the first frame member (12). In reference to claims 10 and 11, the arms (130) of the plate (126) are restrainers that act with the flanges (134) to prevent movement of the plate (126) from the channel (128) or from its active position, see figure 6. In this manner, when the upstanding pivot post (124) and plate (126) pivots in a first direction the plate (126) encounters resistance to turning when engages with flanges (134).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over GB 2 378 207 in view of US Patent #6,112,493 to RICKMAN. GB 2 378 207 discloses the basic claimed framework except for explicitly detailing that his frame members are in fact "hip" and "jack" rafters. Although GB 2 378 207 is silent in this regard, RICKMAN who discloses a very much similar arrangement teaches that it is known in the art to identify the roof frame members as a hip frame member (17) and a jack rafter (18). Thus, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made that the members (12) and (14) of GB 2 378 207 be also properly identified as hip and jack rafters.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 6 is allowed.

Art Unit: 3635

Claim 9 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
